HIRING MANAGER

Newsweek

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Data Analyst role at Newsweek.

With experience in Python, SQL, and data visualization, along with several analytical projects on my GitHub, I am confident in contributing to your city ranking and editorial initiatives.

My projects include credit risk modeling, vendor performance analysis, and e-commerce sales trends, demonstrating my ability to clean, transform, and analyze complex datasets. I also create clear visualizations and dashboards to communicate insights effectively to non-technical stakeholders, aligning with Newsweek's data-driven editorial approach.

I bring a strong analytical mindset, attention to data quality, and collaborative problem-solving skills. I am eager to apply these strengths to support Newsweek's research team and deliver reliable, actionable insights.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to contributing to your team.

Best Regards,

Sarish Chachare
